

Submitting your ABS Ongoing Certification Requirements

Helpful Tips

Continuing Medical Education (CME)

Information regarding CME requirements for Continuous Certification can be found here.

To navigate to your CME repository, log in to your ABS portal and click on CME Repository in the left-side menu. When in your CME repository, scroll down to see a list of activities that currently count towards your CME requirements.

All diplomate-earned CME must be transferred to the ABS through the automatic process that has been established through our collaboration with the ACCME.

Understanding that there have been some challenges with implementation of this process, a tool for manual CME entry only for credits that cannot be transferred through the ACCME is available in the ABS portal CME repository for the 2024 Continuous Certification cycle.

This is a temporary solution which will be phased out following this year's cycle.

For Diplomates Who Use ACS MyCME

The American College of Surgeons (ACS) has recently launched an updated process to transmit CME credit from ACS MyCME to the ABS via the ACCME. ACS fellows should:

1. Log in to ACS MyCME.
2. Provide their ABS ID.
3. Select the date range for CME credit earned.
4. Grant permission for the data transfer.

➤ For help with this process, ACS fellows should contact mycme@facs.org.

To Access Your Ongoing Requirements Page:

While the assessment is due every other year, most other program requirements should be updated no less than every five years.

For diplomates with multiple ABS certificates, the assessment is the only requirement that must be repeated for each certificate.

1. Log in with your user ID and password on the site, portal.absurgery.org.
2. Click on Continuous Certification in the left-side menu.

Any tile that is yellow or grey on this page is due to be updated. Click on each tile to view and provide the requested information.

Practice Improvement

Information regarding practice improvement and resources for surgeons can be found here.

Ongoing participation in a local, regional, or national outcomes registry or quality assessment program, either individually or through your institution, is required.

When reporting, you will be asked to indicate (check box) or describe (text box) the type of practice improvement activity in which you are participating.

The ABS does not collect individual results nor patient data.

Ethics And Professionalism Attestation

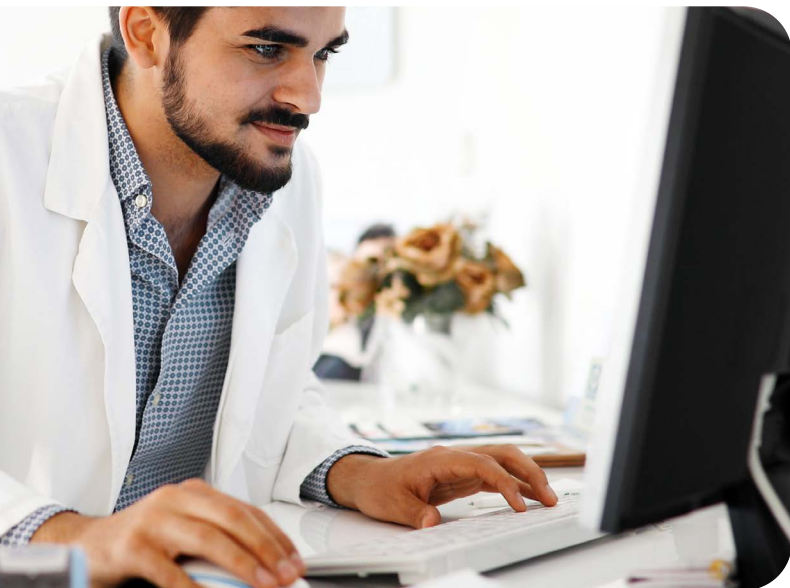

Diplomates must review the ABS Code of Ethics and Professionalism and complete the new attestation when reporting on their ongoing certification requirements or when registering for a Continuous Certification Assessment.

Professional References

In line with the ABS's continued effort to reduce diplomate burden, professional references have been removed from the requirements of the ABS Continuous Certification Program.

While the ABS no longer requires reference forms, the ABS does require submission of two references that the ABS may contact for additional information in the case of one of the following situations:

1. The individual is a former ABS diplomate who is enrolling in the ABS Continuous Certification Program pathway for lapsed certificate holders; or
2. The diplomate is found to be in violation of the ABS Code of Ethics and Professionalism and/or has falsely attested to their adherence to the code; or
3. The diplomate is audited as part of the ABS's random audit process.

The individuals listed will not be contacted unless one of the previously mentioned situations arises.

To complete the attestation:

1. Read through the ABS Code of Ethics and Professionalism in its entirety.
2. Log in to your ABS portal.
3. Use the left-side panel to navigate to Professional Standing.
4. Scroll to Ethics and Professionalism at the bottom of the page.
5. Check the box to attest that you have read and understand the ABS Code of Ethics and Professionalism.
6. Indicate Yes/No responses for each of the actions listed.
 - » For any actions that you indicate have occurred, you must provide an explanation in the corresponding text box.
7. Enter the names and contact information for your two references.
8. Click Save to submit your attestation.

Diplomates will be able to unlock and edit the form if an action arises that they must report to the ABS.
